Michael Hughes and the Sound kicked our summer off in June on a beautiful evening in Michael T. Smith Park on 2nd Street.

Marcus Wilkerson will return to Danville on Aug. 15th in the Burkley neighborhood at 6:00. Marcus is no stranger to Danville having served as an artist in residence at JWBate Middle School and KSD as well as performing at Hogsett in our first summer series. He is a multi-talented musician, arts educator, and songwriter.

Raision D' Etra will bring their unique style of traditional music, swing, and Shaker hymns to the Latimer Heights neighborhood on August 22nd at 6:00. This singer/songwriting trio of women will provide the perfect ending to a summer day.

Tim Lake will close the season in Perryville on September 5th at 6:30 on the Riverwalk behind Merchant's Row. Tim is a composer, singer-songwriter, instrumentalist, and teacher who also tells a great story!

Bring a chair, relax, enjoy exceptional music, and meet new friends in neighborhoods around our county. Hot dogs will be on the grill. Thank you to Wal-Mart, Weld Quip and the Kentucky Arts Council for support of this series.

August is the month for art exhibits

The Gathering Artists are showing off! This active group of local artists is presenting an exhibit throughout the month of August at the Boyle County Public Library. The exhibit showcases pieces the artists liked too much to part with! Several of their members are also featured at the Schoolhouse in Constitution Square in an exhibit called "Peace of Nature." Pictured here is a pool of fish by Lynda Ross.

Fun with art at Famer's Market

Children of all ages have enjoyed activities at Farmer's Market this summer. The arts group of Governor's Scholars students spent a morning creating chalk art, flying paper airplanes, and entertaining children with puppets. Michael Southerland, a local artist AND the creator of the 2023 Brass Band poster, made chalk art inspiring young artists to help decorate Governor's Circle.

Constitution Square Festival is just around the corner

There is something for everyone in 2023. The Festival returns September 16th from 9:00 – 5:00 with art, music, food, and children's activities. Farmer's Market vendors will be set up as usual in the morning. A special feature this year will be several young entrepreneur artists who are building their arts businesses from the ground up, developing their skills and business knowledge exhibiting talents and styles sure to be popular with the collector crowd. Mark your calendars for a great day in the birth place of Kentucky.

Danville Children's Choir kicks off new season

Come check it out! The Danville Children's Choir, part of the Danville Sings community choirs program, will host a Saturday Song Fest on August 19th from 1:00 – 4:00 at First Christian Church. Children are invited to spend the afternoon with director Patti Wright and returning choir members to experience a group musical atmosphere and learn about membership. The fall season begins September 11th.

Scarlet Cup Theater opens with "A Doll's House" by Henrik Ibsen at the Great American Dollhouse Museum on September 7th. Stay tuned for ticket information on the Arts Commission website www.danvillearts.org
